

Tellus assistance

Information

When it's time to set a new system live, the operator might want some assistance when everything is new. With Tellus assistance the operator will get some extra support during the day and can get help when a problem occurs.

Length

Assistance is scheduled for one day or half a day.

Objectives

The objective with the assistance is that the operator should feel confident with the applications.